Introduction

The Faculty of Podiatric Medicine is a faculty of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow. The Faculty was launched in 2012 in recognition of the growing international importance of this field of clinical practice. As the Faculty is a UK institution, the syllabus and examination are centred on current UK practice, regulations and guidelines which do of course take account of developments in the field, world-wide.

Familiarity with the sources outlined in this list will provide the reader with a satisfactory command of contemporary events in this field and will enable competent independent practice of the discipline.

Textbooks

Textbooks, edited or written by authoritative experts in the field, with chapters written by subject specialists are useful for gaining an overview of the subject and for general reference. Specifics of disease prevention and management may have evolved since publication, so these useful books are best used in conjunction with current sources.
