

2006 Killermont

Everyone enjoyed their visit to Killermont, an excellent lunch, the course in fine order and good company. Each team had eight pairs; Sir Roddy captained Glasgow and John Savin the Edinburgh team.

Glasgow won by 6 games to 5 with one game halved.

Roddy happy with the Cup. John Savin (on right) looks on Very sadly John Savin died unexpectedly and prematurely just a few weeks later. John was a highly regarded Dermatologist. An amiable and popular personality, artist, good golfer and a member of Muirfield. Forever a great enthusiast for the Fergus Hewat matches.

2007 Bruntsfield

Another splendid occasion with Edinburgh having a comfortable win. Some of the Glasgow stalwarts were indisposed or away, but this in no way detracted from Edinburgh's sterling performance. Glasgow's disappointment was in part compensated by the splendid largess of the hosts. It is worth noting that Hugh Brebner, who celebrated his 86th birthday that day, dutifully blew out all the candles on a quickly improvised ham sandwich cake!
