TC White special care dentistry symposium

Venue: Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow

Date: Friday, 3 June 2016

Time: 9.00-16.20

This new event will focus on the needs of individuals with dementia, considering communication, protection and health inequalities. As the population of those with dementia grows, oral healthcare professionals are increasingly likely to have to manage these individuals and their healthcare

Why attend?

The day will draw together speakers eminent in their fields who will provide valuable insight into the challenges associated with those with dementia as well as possible solutions and management strategies. Delegates can network with others experienced in the management of special care patients.

Who should attend?

- Specialty registrars in special care dentistry
- Public dental service practitioners
- General Dental Practitioners
- Hospital dental practitioners
- DCPs

TC White special care dentistry symposium

Friday, 3 June 2015

Special Care Dentistry is concerned with the oral healthcare of people who are unable to accept routine dental care because of some physical, intellectual, emotional, sensory, mental or social impairment, or a combination of these factors

Individuals with dementia present particular challenges in the provision of oral healthcare. Experts from the fields of medicine, psychiatry, dental public health and special care dentistry will consider aspects of dementia and together provide a better understanding of those who may be our patients.

POSTER COMPETITION

Prize for best clinical poster and best research poster

Please submit an abstract (500 words, Times New Roman font size 12, no abbreviations) which conveys the essential purpose and message of the poster presentation in an abbreviated form.

For research posters, the abstract should be structured: aim, materials and methods, results and conclusions. For clinical reports/cases, please choose appropriate presentation headings.

Posters are to be printed to A1 dimensions at cost to the delegate. Submissions must be the authors' original work and have permission of all co-authors.
